The University of Western Australia invites high achieving Malaysian and Singaporean students undertaking graduate studies to apply for a newly launched $2m scholarship program for coursework masters degrees.

Spread across nearly all faculties and over 40 courses, this scholarship program is the largest and most exciting international scholarship program offered to date, and demonstrates the University’s continued investment in South East Asia – a region with which it has been closely aligned and committed to for many years.

Marking the launch of a new range of coursework masters at UWA, the program seeks to strengthen the diversity of international students on the UWA campus and across its disciplines, and provide a truly international experience.

These scholarships will be awarded to students who have demonstrated academic excellence in their undergraduate study, and who wish to complete their graduate study with one of the world’s top universities.

The value of the scholarship awarded will be determined by the academic achievement of the applicant and is offered over three levels.

Conditions

- The University of Western Australia is offering scholarships to high achieving students who accept offers for entry into the specified masters programs in 2015 or 2016. Students will be required to indicate acceptance of their offer and the scholarship no more than two weeks after issue date.

- For GPA assessment, the mark calculated by the applicant’s undergraduate university over the full degree is used to determine eligibility.

- For non-GPA transcripts, percentage for the final two years, including all failed attempts is used to determine eligibility.

- The scholarship will be offered for the duration of the course as stated on the University’s offer letter, with the expectation that a student will undertake a 100% load (usually 48 points per year) and will not be extended if a student fails to complete with the stated time. Where credit is awarded and impacts on the load taken, the University will consider these instances on an individual basis.

- The scholarship is conditional on a formal assessment and written offer from the University’s admissions team in Perth.
